LOANS TO TENANTS

Shown in checkers above are the 30 new Kentucky counties where the Farm Security Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has just made loans available to tenant farmers to buy farms under the Bank-farms and improve farms in this head-Jones Farm Tenant Act.

Loans also will continue to be made in 21 other Kentucky counties designated for Tenant Purchase loans last year and the year before. Shown in black are 10 counties where the program was started last year. The 11 counties diagonally lined were the first to be designated in this state year before last. In the old counties numerals indicate the number of farms already made to buy farms.

In a gradually increasing program Congress has appropriated $40,000,000 for Tenant Purchase for this fiscal year. Of this amount the Secretary of Agriculture, last week, allotted $31,331,295 to Kentucky. This will enable about 222 industrious farm tenants to buy and improve farms in this state.

Applications for loans to buy farms should be made to the nearest FSA County Supervisor, F. H. Byars, is County Supervisor for Morgan county. His office is located in the Morgan Motor building.

CALIFORNIA TROOPERS RETURN

The California Troopers whose personalities are J. Wendell Nickell, Helen O. Price, Chrystal Howard, Floris Cox, Pauline Noble and Ella K. Turner returned at 1 A. M., on Wednesday from a two weeks' tour thru California and other points of historical fame. They sped along full of expectation until they came to Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado, where they had the pleasure of driving over Pike's Peak. The trail was a dangerous one with many thousand foot drops. They were advised to hire a guide here but with Miss Noble as chauffeur the trip was made in safety and comfort. The ladies suggested leaving Wyoming at once but Wendell Nickell protested in a dramatic manner "I have seen one-half of hell's acres all the way so now I want to see the other half which lies just beyond here in old Wyoming. If the other half is any worse than this I do not think I can stand it." So in order to pacify their only male companion they visited "Hell's Half Acre" which is a broad expanse of land covered with red pinnacles of brightly colored earth which stand out and reminds one of the fiery flames of Hades. The ladies knew by the look on his face that he was convinced there was a greater torment than escorting five ladies on a two week's tour.

After a good night's rest they decided to visit the Great Salt Lake in Utah. The water looked fine so they decided to take a swim. The joke was on them when they came out completely covered with salt. Next they went to San Francisco and attended the Golden Gate Exposition on Treasure Island where they spent an entire day of pleasure and sight-seeing.

After enjoying this wonderful place and the Exposition held there they visited Yosemite Park in California. As they journeyed on from Yosemite to Hollywood they came to a beautiful orange grove and it was here that they met their first real danger, in fact it looked as if they were going to be forced to return home without their gayest trooper, Miss Floris Cox, for the widower who owned the grove insisted that he was very lonely and needed a companion.

Miss Floris, he said, was just the type for whom he had been looking and he insisted that she stay. So with prayers and supplications the crowd coaxed her to return. With a sweet farewell and a crate of oranges the owner bade her goodbye and she ate oranges and dreamed sweet dreams the rest of the journey thru.

The thought of losing Floris was such a shock that they decided to rest awhile before going on so they motored back to Pismo Beach where they rented a cottage and spent several days. The cool breeze from the Pacific and now and then a swim in the Ocean soon won the hearts of Mrs. Howard, Miss Price and Miss Turner. But dragging themselves away the group reached Hollywood where they were delighted to see in person several famous movie stars, among whom were Jack Benny and wife, Mary Livingston, Jean Rogers and others.

From Hollywood they motored to Pasadena where they were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Carmen

Wheeler formerly of Cannel City and in good old Morgan County hospitality Mrs. Wheeler prepared a lovely basket lunch for the troopers to take with them thru their night's journey across the Mohave Desert.

They decided to start at daybreak for New Mexico to visit the Grand Canyon but were suddenly awakened in the night by screams from Ella K. Turner, whose back had become blistered from the sun while swimming in the Pacific Ocean so the tour was postponed until late the next afternoon. Finally they reached this great canyon and after enjoying its beauty for awhile they went to Gallup, New Mexico, where they attended the Annual Indian Ceremonies. More than thirty-two Indian tribes participated in these ceremonies.

On their entire journey they had toured the following sixteen states: Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, California, Montana, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Tennessee.

LADIES' AID MEETS

Leslie, Miss Oma Zornes, Mrs. Katie Sebastian, Mrs. Earl Haney, Mrs. Mike Benton, Mrs. Donnie Patrick. Visitors were Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Garriott, Ruth Jones, Aileen Zornes, and Coleen Patrick.

"Sweet Hour of Prayer" was sung and dedicated to Miss Sallie Minor, who is in Charlottesville, Va., for the summer. Another song sung was "The Way of the Cross Leads Home." The hostess read as devotional the 15th chapter of John. Mrs. Leslie led the Lord's prayer, in which all joined.

Mrs. D. P. Peyton and Miss Aileen Zornes sang a special song, "Under His Wings." Rev. Garriott made a nice talk. He told how much they had enjoyed the Ladies' Aid at Cannel City. Everyone hopes to have Rev. and Mrs. Garriott back with us after conference.

A large crowd was present at this meeting and much work was accomplished. During the social hour the hostess, assisted by Miss Ruth Jones and Miss Aileen Zornes, served delicious refreshments of lemonade, sandwiches, cakes, and watermelon.

Next meeting will be held Aug. 31 with Mrs. Inez Donovan.

COURT ADJOURNED

Court adjourned Wednesday afternoon. This was an unusually busy eight day court. The grand jury made over 150 indictments. Several persons were sentenced to terms in the state reformatory, including those indicted this court for stealing chickens from Sam Cecil and others for stealing horses from Frank Oakley. A large number of fines and jail sentences were also rendered. The jury hung on only one case—a cutting and wounding case—the last case tried. A bad ending for a good term of court.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Paying it back is what put the "row" in borrow.

Every man wants the newspaper to publish all the local news it can—about the other men.

WILD LIFE IN MORGAN COUNTY

Someone expressed the idea the other day that Morgan county is a natural habitat for quail, fish, and squirrels. It is high time that the people of Morgan county take active hand in the preservation of their game, because it means much to the growth of our county. If we have attractions for tourists it means much to the business of this county. People who visit our county will go back home to praise the county because of its wild life. Many of our leading citizens like to hunt quail, and fish in our beautiful streams. Hunting and fishing are clean and wholesome sports.

We have, as a whole, neglected to protect our game. Hunting and fishing out of season have exhausted most of our game. The state game and fish commission at Frankfort will restock our county if we will organize a local game and fish protective association. The amount of restocking is conditioned on the number belonging to the club. Many of our farmers and business men have pledged their support in helping to get our county restocked with game.

An enrolment campaign will start soon. The state will furnish the game free provided our organization functions properly. We urge everyone to join this fish and game club. It is hoped that we will be able to get several thousand trout for Blackwater and Spawns creeks. Help us build a better Morgan county.

Labor Day Rally

Everybody from miles around will find a good and glorious time at the Labor Day Rally on the School Campus at West Liberty on Monday September 4. The price of admission will be so low that no one will miss the small sum and the proceeds will go to finish paying for the band uniforms and other school purposes. WALTER

On October 19, 1855, our beloved father, A. T. Walter, was born to Franklin and Seavill Walter. Sixty-two years ago he was united in marriage to Sarah Haney. He was a devoted worker in the Christian church throughout his entire life. He was a trustee and also deacon in the church at Salem for more than forty years. Having the spirit of Jesus Christ in him caused him to be an everlasting example to all who knew him. His doors were always opened to all who came, be it relatives, friends, or strangers.

In his last and dying hours, as oft before, he assured us there was no fear of death for him, that all is well, the way is clear. Altho one of the eldest of the family, he was the last to be called.

He is survived by eight children and their companions: Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Walter of Hazel Green, Mr. and Mrs. Holly Walter of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Walter of Bunkirk, Mo., and Mrs. Mort Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Nickell, and Mr. and Mrs. John Stamper, all of Nickell, and Mr. and Mrs. Tinsley Walter of Franklin, Ohio. Two other children died in infancy. There are 44 grandchildren and approximately as many great-grandchildren.

Stilled now be every anxious care. See God's goodness everywhere.

Leave all to Him in perfect rest. He will do all things for the best.

Funeral services were conducted from the home at Nickell on Aug. 18 by Rev. Harlan Murphy, assisted by S. Monroe Nickell of Lexington, in the presence of a large crowd of relatives and friends, and the body was laid to rest in the home cemetery.

CONGRESSIONAL NEGATIVE

The session of Congress that adjourned early this month did not demonstrate any ability to solve the problems that confront the nation.

It is true that the Congress gave an exhibition of independence in regards to executive recommendations, but when it killed suggested legislation it failed to provide substitutes.

Democracy suffers in the world today because of the apparent inability of democratic governments to function effectively and nowhere is this more apparent than when legislative blocs develop the ability to thwart legislation without, at the same time, exhibiting the ability to pass satisfactory legislation to meet given situations.

It is possible that the Congress of the United States will be divided into three or more groups of members, none able to pass legislation because of objections on the part of other groups. It is also evident that such a development would almost fatally affect responsive government.

Here From Wisconsin

Ada Adkins and her father in-law Marion Adkins of White Lake, Wisconsin, who had been here visiting Mrs. Adkins parents W. R. Cox on Elk Fork and other relatives returned to their home in Wisconsin the fore part of the week. They enjoyed their visit here very much.

FARMERS' COLUMN

Remedy for Poor Pasture

Believing Negro farmers in Christian county, Kentucky, needed more livestock, County Agent Runyon Story studied the pasture situation, and found: lespedeza pasture for only six months in the year; the stand of other grasses poor; many pastures over-worked; lack of fences to shift stock.

His remedy: sow Italian rye grass in old pastures, also crimson clover and rye grass in corn in fall for winter pasture, and lespedeza in spring for hay; use limestone and manure on pasture; mow pastures twice a year; use temporary fences on the inside of the farm, so pastures can be rotated.

Tobacco Curing

In curing tobacco, James Bray, Pulaski county, uses a home-made furnace resembling the brick brooder used by chicken raisers, except that it is extended along the floor 20 to 25 feet. County Agent Jack S. Kidd describes the furnace as made by folding metal roofing in an acre shape, with the edges fastened to the ground with metal pins. The affair is made air-tight and fire-proof by plastering the edges with clay mud. An ordinary stove-pipe is used to carry off the smoke. Either coal or wood is burned. Two furnaces were used in an acre barn last year, and the tobacco brought 30 cents a pound.

Tobacco Program Changed

Farmers may sell without penalty all the tobacco they produce on their tobacco-acreage allotments whenever a marketing quota may be in effect in the future, says M.D. Roysce, chairman of the State Agricultural Adjustment committee. This is a change in the tobacco marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, made by one of four amendments passed by Congress and signed by the President.

Formerly farmers had both acreage allotments and marketing quotas in a fixed number of pounds, and sometime, even though they planted within their tobacco acreage allotments, they had more tobacco than their quotas allowed for. The three other amendments to the Farm Act tobacco provisions change the date for proclaiming tobacco marketing quotas, provide that a second referendum on burley and dark tobacco will not be held in the same marketing year, and put the penalty for excess marketings on a flat rate per pound instead of a percentage of the gross price.

The amendment which makes the market quota the actual production of a farmer's tobacco acreage allotment also provides for an increase in the allotments for small farms. For farms that have normal production of less than 3,200 pounds for flue-cured and less than 2,400 pounds for other kinds of tobacco, the allotments will be increased 20 percent, provided the increase does not bring the allotment above an acreage on which the normal production would equal 3,200 pounds in the case of flue-cured tobacco and 2,400 pounds in the case of the other kinds.

This amendment also includes a provision by which the allotment for any farm will be reduced by an amount equivalent to any amount of tobacco marketed in violation of the quota provisions in a preceding year. Under this provision if one farmer aided another farmer by selling his tobacco in any year in violation of the quota law, the allotment for both farmers would be reduced by an equivalent amount the next year.

The second amendment provides that a marketing year to December 1, Originally the date for proclaiming quotas was between November 15 and December 1. This amendment also provides that the marketing quota may be increased as much as 10 percent if the Secretary of Agriculture finds that additional tobacco is needed to meet trade demands.

A third amendment provides that not more than one referendum on marketing quotas for burley, and fire-cured and air-cured tobacco can be held in the same marketing year. The act originally provided that if supplies of burley and dark tobacco reached certain levels, a quota could be proclaimed and a referendum conducted on marketing quotas for that marketing year, even though growers had previously voted unfavorably on quotas for the same marketing year.

The fourth amendment changed the penalty for marketing in excess of the quota from 50 percent of the market price to a flat rate of 10 cents per pound of flue cured, burley, and Maryland tobacco, and 5 cents per pound for all other kinds.

"Keep Farms Green"

"Keep Kentucky's Farms Green" will be the theme of the College of Agriculture's exhibit at the State Fair in Louisville Sept. 10-16. The college's exhibit will be housed in the Grandstand Building.

Designed to emphasize the fact that soils kept green are not troubled by erosion and leaching to any great extent, that profits are better and the way of life more desirable as a result, the theme of the exhibit will be carried out in many ways.

The agronomy department will feature graphically how cover crops help tillage land, and also show to increase corn yields by using hybrid seed, thus leaving more land free for pasture. "The Value of Pasture in Swine Feeding" will be the topic of the animal husbandry exhibit, while the markets department will show how to produce and sell sorghum molasses.

The State seed law has a part in keeping the soils of the State green, by helping eliminate weeds. This will be shown in a huge chart.

Through a children's exhibit pertaining to toys and books, the home demonstration department will offer suggestions. This comes from a year's study of child care and development.

The 4-H club exhibit will be one of the largest. Work done during the year by 4-H club members will be shown—sports clothes, canned and baked goods, and other features.

One exhibit will illustrate how to grow better tobacco at lower costs and on less land.

ALASKAN HIGHWAY PROGRAM

The dream of a connected highway stretching all the way from Alaska to the lower reaches of South America came a step nearer realization recently when U. S. and Canadian officials held their first formal conference on construction of the Canadian and Alaskan segments.

Already there are small sections of highway in Alaska and at present the road extends a substantial distance from the U. S. into British Columbia. However, the job of connecting up these links and making a through connection to the Mexican section of the Pan American Highway is an engineering job of major proportions that will cost an estimated $25,000,000.

Meanwhile, work also is showing progress on the Central American portions of the highway. Many engineering difficulties also face the road-builders in this part of the world; instead of frozen wastes that Canada presents, engineers must tackle a most impenetrable jungle and tangled swamps when constructing links between Mexico and Panama.

The dream of road from Alaska to South America is one of the most ambitious road-building schemes ever projected and in the early days the program was met with scorn and incredulity. Little by little, however, the road is taking shape and with Canadian and U. S. officials cooperating on a joint program, it appears that the day is not far distant when all the American nations will be joined together by one integrated highway.

Such a highway, opening up the entire Western hemisphere to highway commerce and travel, unquestionably will have a profound influence on the future development of all the nations on this side of the world.

With KENTUCKY Editors

Kentucky orchardists started harvesting a one-third normal peach crop as prices dropped far below the 1938 level. Hit by a late frost, orchards in McCracken County yielded fewer than thirty carloads. Prices were lower than last year.—Big Sandy News.

In one of the interesting exchange papers that come to this office regularly I saw a paragraph the other day that summed our troubles up neatly. It said something like this: We have come to a time when we have to ask the boss to pay us more than we're worth in order to live as we should.

A certain Floyd county family not so keen on Keen had planned to kill the fatted calf if John Y. won. But he didn't and so the vealer was stabled overnight. And during the evening whether out of sympathy for his owners or no we have not been informed the poor brute upped and died.—Floyd County Times.

A bee buzzed about the head of Willie Babb, 23 year old farmer of Wisemantown. Willie broke into a run and escaped the bee sting, but was a patient at the Pattie A Clay infirmary here today suffering from a cut on his left leg. In his flight from the bee Willie ran into the blade of a mower and cut his leg when the accident occurred Tuesday morning. Examination at the hospital today showed that the tendons on his leg had been severed.—Madison County Post.

An unusual election result occurred in the August primary in the Representative's race in the district which comprises Mercer and Washington counties. It was supposed to be Mercer county's "times," and there were three candidates, all from that county. Only thirty votes separated the three, and the winner's plurality was fifteen. More remarkable is the fact that the winner, Harvey D. Leonard, was nearly 600 behind each of his opponents in Mercer county, but won through his majority in Washington.—Elizabethtown News.

For more than 50 years it has been technically incorrect to write or speak of "Washington, D. C." The city as such was really absorbed by the District government, which was set up in 1871. Though the designated still appears on maps, timetables, in newspapers, books, and on official papers and private letterheads, there is no city government; everything is run by the District, and the District in turn is run by congress. The same situation prevails with respect to Georgetown, which was swallowed up at the same time Washington was.—Russell Times

A clear-cut statement of the law was outlined to workers and pickets at Kentucky Ridge Coal Co. at Field Wednesday morning by County Judge John Matt Pursfull and County Attorney Walter B. Smith. There can be no misunderstanding of the law in this matter and if violation occur those responsible can not claim that they were not advised.

County Attorney Smith told the pickets and workers assembled it meant the right to urge men to join the union and the privilege of pointing out the advantages of collective bargaining through such a union. These rights are guaranteed under the law. The County Attorney also pointed out that "ganging" one or two employees with large bodies of pickets and threatening them if they return to work is not "peaceable picketing." A picket oversteps all bounds when he tells a worker that he "can not work" or threatens him with bodily harm or death if he continues to work at a place that is being picketed.—Pineville Sun.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Pilot Training

Ten thousand student pilots will be trained, it is expected, soon after September 1, as a result of a $4,000,000 appropriation for the purpose. Hundreds of institutions have applied for participation in the program.

British Air Mail

Imperial Airways has inaugurated a British air mail service over the Atlantic Ocean, the first scheduled plane arriving early in August.

Apology

Following the statement that Former President Hoover had men "buying" delegations in Southern States, made during a round-table radio program, sponsored by the University of Chicago, the University, upon Mr. Hoover's demand, expressed its regret that the statement, which it believed to be untrue, was made.

FAREWELL PARTY

Miss Anna Ruth Lykins was sent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brong Wednesday evening soon after seven on an errand. She was very much surprised when over twenty girls rushed into the room.

Her Sunday school teacher, Miss Margaret Brong and her Scout leader, Mrs. J. B. Nickell had planned a handkerchief shower or, if the girls preferred, some other simple gift as a parting remembrance. Her pastor, Rev. Roscoe Brong was unable to be present. Mrs. Nickell also sent her regrets with her gift, but helped with the refreshments. Mrs. Roscoe Brong and Anita Gullett were not present but sent a gift.

Anna Ruth was at once seated at the table. She opened her many packages, expressing to each one her appreciation and thanks.

The group had a joyous time in the various games led by Miss Margaret. Refreshments of lemonade, wafers and candy were served at nine.

Anna Ruth is a favorite among the girls. She was also a member of the Glee Club and of the School Band as were some of the other girls present. Bereft of both father and mother, she was leaving with her only sister, Mrs. Nancy E. Shouse and husband for Wheeling, W. Va., where she will make her home and also be much with her only brother, Joseph D. Lykins and wife, who also reside in Wheeling.

As the girls said good night they all made mention of their happy evening together. Although each one regretted to see Anna Ruth leave the church, school and community, not knowing when they will meet again, they managed a merry and joyous parting.

Those present to do honor to Miss Anna Ruth were: Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brong and daughters, Misses Margaret and Lovel, Misses Catherine Wells, Catherine Williams, Anna Jean Price, Margaret Adkins, Betty Jo Whit, Letha Nell Blair, Kydia and Dorothy Ashley, Frances Wells, Jesse and Louise Tyre, Jerry Nell Rose, Betty Jean Nickell, Geraldine Caskey, Lannelle Nickell, Isabelle Caskey, Geraldine Nickell, Violet Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shouse and daughter, Mary Edith, Mrs. Dewey Dennis and Mrs. Earl Price.

Social Security

Old age insurance costs will rise from $46,000,000 to $114,000,000 in 1940, and public assistance will be increased by $60,000,000, says Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, who calls the legislation in its present form the "most important" enacted by Congress. In fifteen years, he estimates, costs will steadily rise.

Jap Plane

At the request of the Japanese government permission has been given a Japanese plane to fly over Alaska on a "good will" flight around the world.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents, and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists, and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address, and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.—Adv.

BEAUTY TIPS

By Virginia Lee

YOU'VE heard the old saying—"she's a lady to her fingertips"—it still goes! And for her ladyship we can't think of anything nicer than a modern manicure set. We saw a smart and inexpensive one the other day called the Observatory Set. It comes in a modern plastic case and contains all the necessities for a complete manicure.

Another aid for the care of her ladyship's nails is the glycerated polish remover pads in tall jars that look as if they were lace lined. Each jar contains 40 pads, one pad sufficient to remove polish from all ten fingers. In short, a supply for almost a year!

There are sixteen smart tones in creme nail polishes—from Natural to deep Vinograd, hand cream to keep skin white and smooth, nail cream to keep nails from splitting, cuticle from drying. With these at our command it is easy to be smart to our fingertips.

The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston
Dean, Schools of Business
International Correspondence Schools

TENS of thousands of young men and women graduate from educational institutions every year. The majority of these persons seek employment in business. Unemployment among those who have been workers in the past is great. It behooves the youth who expects to find a position to plan well ahead. He should start thinking of his future work long before he leaves school. He should get some idea not only of one field but of several fields of endeavor. The best assurance of being able to obtain a job in the future is to be able to fill a number of positions acceptably.

Personality is a great asset in business, but too much has been spoken and written about personality. The youth who gets the impression that there is some special quality, termed personality, that will take the place of hard work, sincerity of purpose and determination, will likely come a cropper in the business race. Personal magnetism is a valuable quality, but few men possess this quality naturally. Alertness, patience, and eagerness to learn and to serve are qualities required of beginners in business. Do your immediate job well and forget about your personality in good advice. The super-salesman does not have a super-personality. He is usually merely a hard worker.

MORGAN COUNTY SCHOOL PAGE

(Under Auspices of Ova O. Haney, County Supt.)

LETTER TO TEACHERS

A number of teachers have not yet sent in their requests to be enrolled as workers in the field of public health. If you wish to secure credit for participating in the health program you should send in your request for enrollment at once. A mimeographed letter has been sent to all teachers announcing that at the end of the year the Health Department will give recognition to those teachers who participate in the health program, provided their work is satisfactory. The recognition will consist of a Certificate of Achievement in Public Health Education, which will be a document of considerable value in future placement of teachers.

The Certificate of Achievement of Public Health Education will not be granted to teachers who take merely a dilatory attitude, or who do not keep a notebook in which is preserved all letters from the health department to teachers, and all news articles published by the health department in the local paper, Licking Valley Courier. The school page of this paper will contain each week important news concerning the health program in the schools and in your communities. It is therefore important, if you are going to keep in step with the rest of the county, that you should get the paper and preserve clippings, pasted into your notebook, of all directions, information, and suggestions, that we send to you through the medium of the local press. The Courier Pub. Co. has scrap books for eight cents which will nicely serve the purpose.

Your notebook should contain also your own observations upon the health needs of your school and community, and a record of what has been done toward getting these needs remedied. The Teachers Health notebook will thus be both a source of information for you and a journal of your own studies and accomplishment toward improving health conditions and health consciousness in the particular school and community where you are at work.

The Certificate of Achievement in Public Health Education will be based upon consideration of the response you have shown in cooperating with the Health Department and the Board of Education toward making the Health Program effective, as well as upon the consideration of your notebook and upon certain tests which we will give you of your general knowledge of health subjects. We do not intend to put into these tests any catch questions or difficult material. However, we do believe that one who is teaching the youth of the nation should have a reasonable understanding of a number of things, ranging from what to do for snake bite, to the value of early discovery of tuberculosis, or the need for sanitary excreta disposal as a means of prevention of typhoid fever and summer diarrhoea.

We believe that those who enter into the spirit of participating in the Health Program will find it one of the most pleasant and beneficial parts of their school and community activity. We do not expect that all teachers, however, will be enrolled in this practical course of public health instruction, since there are usually some who mean well, but procrastinate, and otherwise aren't alert enough to catch the ball when it is passed to them. Those who "carry the ball" with us in this game, we expect will be the best and most capable teachers and for those we anticipate a very pleasant and fruitful year of accomplishment. For those who go only half way, or take the matter half heartedly, we anticipate only half way measures of satisfaction and reward. We cannot issue the Certificate of Achievement in Public Health Education unless there is actually achievement such as to merit it.

With the approval of the superintendent of schools.

LENOX SCHOOL

School began here July 17 with Louise Johnson as teacher. We are all working hard to make it a successful school year.

The flood had been in the house, but we didn't mind that. We scrubbed it twice, then we oiled the floor.

We organized a good English class with Evelyn Adkins as secretary, Christine Adkins president, and Ellis Adkins vice president. We like the work just fine.

Our Bible teacher, Miss Beckley, made us a visit last week. She gave us Sunday school papers and some other Bible work to do. We are looking forward to her next visit.

We are going to have a pie supper here (Lenox) Aug. 26, and want everybody that can to come. Don't forget the time, Aug. 26. We will have plenty of music and plenty of pies. We are expecting a big crowd.

Let's come!

We have had several visitors. Our helping teacher, Mr. McKenzie, has visited us twice. We are always glad to have him. Other visitors have been Misses Naomi and Geneva Meadows, Cecil Holbrook, L. B. Adkins, Mrs. B. A. Williams, Mrs. Raleigh Shaver, Mrs. Doan Caskey, and D. M. Caskey.

Our motto: "Striving for a higher goal."

Reporters, Evelyn Adkins, Christine Adkins. Teacher, Louise Johnson.

BANNER SCHOOL

Banner school pupils and teacher have been quite busy cutting weeds and briars and cleaning the playground. We want a nice, clean, wholesome place to play ball, our favorite game. We have oiled our floor, cleaned our windows, cleaned our blackboard, polished our stove and lamps, rearranged our posters, banners, flag, clock, pictures, and mended our large floor chart.

We take much pride in beautifying our schoolroom and playground. We have two groups of workers, the Boones and the Penns. Rosa Shaver is the leader of the Penns and Jewel Shaver leader of the Boones. We are each striving to win.

Friday, Aug. 11, we had several patrons visiting us. Alfred Johnson, one of the oldest patrons in our district, made an interesting talk to the small children. We invite him back many times. We are glad to have visitors and are looking forward to a visit from our doctor and nurse and Mr. Hancy, our superintendent.

James Wright has been absent from school this week on account of an infected foot.

We are planning to meet all the other schools at the Morgan county fair. Let's all be there one hundred percent.

Our teacher, Miss Shaver, has visited nine homes since school began. Reporting committee, Rosa Shaver, Jewel Shaver, Wheeler Johnson.

PRaises CO. SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. Shaw of Louisville, state deputy director of WPA, was a business visitor in West Liberty Tuesday and while speaking of our wonderful new school buildings and stadium remarked that Morgan county had one of the finest and most capable county school superintendents in the state. He said that only one other county superintendent in the state had sponsored such an extensive building program as had Mr. Haney, adding that this building program was largely responsible for the recent growth and development of our county. "Mr. Haney," said he, "is a great asset to Morgan county and its citizens should be proud of him."

Mr. Shaw was present at the dedication of the Morgan county high school and when he returned to West Liberty Tuesday was deeply impressed by the various improvements that had been made since his last visit. "There is no doubt in my mind," said he, "but that any community will grow if you give it a good school and good inlets and outlets."

ZONE 2 REPORTS

At the closing of the first month of school I had visited every school in my zone that was in session. At some schools I stayed only a few minutes, while at others I spent a few hours, depending upon the distance I had to drive or walk in reaching the school and returning.

I'm very proud of the fact that I can say I found every teacher on the job and they seemed to be working hard. Although I never observed all teachers while they were carrying on classroom work, I do believe that the ones I did observe without exception were trying hard to carry out the aims of elementary education in order that the children might realize the most benefit from their time spent at school. This and the fact that the teachers are so friendly and willing to cooperate in carrying out the school program makes my job as a helping teacher much easier and certainly more pleasant. I want to ask every teacher to continue to thrust the other months of school with the same good spirit as you have shown during the first month and I will endeavor to do what I can to help you. I believe if we will do this we can truthfully say at the end that Morgan county has completed one of the best school years in its history.

I would like to urge all you teachers not only in my zone but all over the county to have pie suppers or something similar in order to raise a few dollars to add something to the school in the way of classroom equipment, paint for inside of building, or guards for windows. One teacher has already gone ahead and spent several dollars for window guards and lock, with the hope that a pie supper will bring in enough money to cover cost of same. If every teacher in the county would have a pie supper many dollars worth of valuable equipment could be added to the Morgan county school system, which would make the teachers more efficient in their work as well as make learning easier for the pupils.

WOODFORD CECIL,

Helping Teacher

Mr. Henry, on Elk Fork near Pomp, and got into a fight with Mr. Henry's dog.

Mr. Henry, believing the dog to be mad, killed it with his shotgun.

Mr. Henry is wondering now, whether to kill his own dog. He says he wouldn't have taken twenty-five dollars for him, and yet he is afraid that his dog may go mad.

This brings before us the whole burning question: Was the dog mad? It also brings before us the moral of this story: If you or any of your family or friends or your animals is bitten by a dog that may be mad, DON'T SHOOT THE DOG. Throw a box or a blanket or something over him and shut him up in some place where you can keep him safe from harm. If he is mad he will die, and will do it right soon, usually within two or three days. IF HE LIVES AS MUCH AS TEN DAYS AFTER BITING YOU, you can rest assured that he did not have rabies when he bit you. TO SHOOT THE DOG IS TO DESTROY YOUR BEST source of information about the one question you want to know, namely, WHETHER YOU ARE IN DANGER OF RABIES.

It may take a little nerve and cool-headedness to capture a dog that you think is mad, and shut him up, BUT IT IS WELL WORTH IT. Once you have killed the dog there is no possibility of your ever proving that the dog was not mad, and if you want to be able to sleep nights, you will have to take the Pasteur Treatment, a procedure which is a lot of bother, and is also expensive.

A lot of people have the false impression that by sending the head of a dog to the laboratory you can find out whether or not the dog had rabies. A little common sense will tell you that when the laboratory expert who examines that head searches for half an hour in the brain substance, and finds something that looks like rabies, he can tell you, with a reasonable degree of assurance, that the dog was mad.

But if he searches for half an hour and doesn't find it, he cannot tell you that the dog was not mad. All he can tell you is that definite evidence of rabies was not found, but the dog may have been mad anyway. Maybe the dog was killed before the "Negri bodies" in the brain had time to develop. Or possibly he would have found a Negri body if he had happened to look in the right place.

There is really very little use of sending the head of an animal to the laboratory for an examination of this sort, unless the animal was allowed to die a natural death, since animals that have died of rabies have lots of clearly defined Negri bodies in the brain, while animals that were shot before their time, even though they may have been going mad, will show only a few Negri bodies, and these are very hard to find.

Accordingly, I wish it understood that this health department will not undertake the responsibility of sending to the laboratory the heads of animals that have been killed because they were thought to be mad. We will, however, be glad to send in for examination the heads of any animals which were allowed to die of themselves, instead of being killed.

Besides the moral "DON'T SHOOT THE DOG," there is another moral to this story: HAVE YOUR DOG VACCINATED AGAINST RABIES. It costs only twenty-five cents a year to keep your dog safe from the possibility of going mad, even though he should be bitten by a mad animal.
